Foreword

Human values refer to the basic inherent moral inclinations towards kindness, honesty, loyalty, love, peace, sympathy, truth etc. that enhance fundamental goodness of human beings and society at large. They are the values that human beings cherish and hold in common, consciously and otherwise, in most of the places and times and practice them. Human values help in understanding the attitude, motivation, behaviour, and also influence one's perception about the world. They enable the interpretation of "right and wrong" and provide the ways to understand humans and organizations.

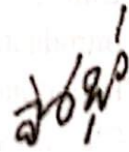

Professional Ethics

Human values and professional ethics are complementary to each other. Whereas human values convey personal conviction, ethics describe the accepted principles and standards of conduct about moral duties and virtues as applied to an organization. Codes of professional ethics guide the stakeholders of an organization about the desirable and undesirable acts related to the profession.

The underlying philosophy of having professional ethics is to make people follow a sound uniform ethical conduct. The success of an institution's mission and vision is driven by

I congratulate and appreciate the content developers for bringing concise yet resourceful material for the benefit of UG students that shall make them more knowledgeable and employable.
